A message from Chief Robert J. Duffy

On behalf of all the dedicated and committed men and women of the Police Department, I am pleased to present the Rochester Police Department's 2000 Annual Report. This Annual Report is just one of the many ways that our personnel handle the unlimited range of tasks, under all types of conditions and deliver quality service to our community throughout the year. The reduction in crime continues to be the primary focus of the Rochester Police Department. This is our basic mission, and all of our initiatives have been refocused to support this mission either directly or indirectly. Internally, two new Deputy Chiefs have been appointed to lead the Administrative Bureau and the newly created Investigative Bureau within the Department.

We have faced a number of challenges over the past year and the statistics contained in this Annual Report reflect our efforts and partnerships with the community to reduce crime and violence. Although our statistical numbers show a slight increase over 1999 numbers, we had the second lowest crime statistics in the past five years. The steps taken last year to address drug complaints continue to show positive results and demonstrate our efforts to make an impact on the quality of life issues in the neighborhoods. Our resolve and commitment has been a key in the collaborative effort and innovative initiatives utilized to make our community safe.

The Department's implementation of the 311 system, as an alternative to 911, allows for differential responses to non-emergency calls and allows our patrol personnel more time to address pro-active and preventative measures. Through grants and other funding sources, we have supplemented our personnel with additional sworn and non-sworn positions that have allowed the Department to staff and implement new and innovative programs. The COPS Grant has allowed the Department to increase the number of police officers in City middle and high schools, and implemented new programs and initiatives targeted at reducing youth related violence.

I am confident that our efforts and initiatives will continue and the Rochester Police Department will continue to strive to maintain the high standards of safety and service to the community as affirmed by our CALEA reaccreditation this year.

ACCREDITATION

Accreditation ensures that law enforcement agencies provide progressive, customer-focused services and meet the highest professional standards.

The Rochester Police Department received national recognition upon accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA) in 1987 and the New York State Bureau of Municipal Police in 1990. Under both programs, these accrediting agencies rigorously review Department practices for compliance with recognized and accepted law enforcement standards.

Accreditation is granted for three years by CALEA and for five years by New York State. During these periods, the agency must comply with all applicable standards. A report is submitted annually to each accrediting body, attesting to continued compliance. At the end of each accreditation period, the agency undergoes a thorough on-site assessment to verify compliance for its re-accreditation.

As a leading law enforcement agency, members of the Rochester Police Department are proud of the high quality of service for which they have been recognized, and continue to pursue excellence in law enforcement.

Safety, service, and crime reduction. Our mission statement proudly proclaims the Department's commitment to work with the community in a spirit of cooperation, integrity and fairness.

Distinguishing the Department

in 2000

Implementation of POLICEnet

In August 2000 the Rochester Police Department's Information Systems Unit along with the City's Bureau of Information Systems (B.I.S.) formed what is now known as POLICEnet. POLICEnet is now the main network for the Rochester Police Department and combines three separate networks. This merger will enable users from POLICEnet to use resources not available prior to its formation. Additional benefits include increased network reliability and speed. POLICEnet invites future enhancements such as department-wide access to the Internet and remote data entry. Most importantly, POLICEnet is the network that our mobile computers will rely upon to transmit data from the street to the Records Management System.

Technological Enhancements and Training

The City's E-mail system (GroupWise) was expanded to provide all members of the police department with accounts. This was an extremely important step to move towards more efficient communications. It has opened the door for the RPD to examine all of its internal processes to move towards a more efficient department. The help desk added one person to assist in the spike of calls that have occurred with automation. Computer training, provided by the Rochester City School District, allowed about 135 members of the RPD to learn basic, intermediate, and advanced computer skills at a very reasonable cost.

C.A.L.E.A. Accreditation

The Rochester Police Department has been accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement, Inc. (C.A.L.E.A.) since 1987. In August, an assessment team from C.A.L.E.A. examined the Rochester Police Department's policies and procedures, management practices, operations and support services, comparing the agency to established standards of professionalism and excellence.

In December, C.A.L.E.A. officials, convening in Burlington, Vermont reviewed the assessor's reports and unanimously voted the Rochester Police Department to once again be granted accredited status.

The independent verification of professionalism and adherence to high standards is an accomplishment the RPD is truly proud of. This serves as an indication that the Rochester Police Department continues to strive to be the best to serve the citizenry of the City of Rochester.

PAC-TAC Strategic Plan

The Police and Citizens Together Against Crime (PAC-TAC) program was started in 1972 and soon became one of the police department's flagship programs. Over the years the program had become outdated, and membership was decreasing. Chief Duffy ordered a complete review of the PAC-TAC program to identify and repair the problems that hurt the program's effectiveness. Over 120 citizens and police officers were involved in various types of meetings resulting in the PAC-TAC 2000 Strategic Plan. The plan was presented to the executive staff of the police department and won overwhelming support. The timeline for implementation of many of the recommendations is the year 2001. This work is noted in the 2010 Renaissance plan for the City of Rochester.

311 Project

The 3-1-1 non-emergency telephone number is scheduled to be activated in January, 2001. The activation will be the culmination of intense work by the department in the year 2000. Rochester was commended for being the first city in the second round of COPS funding to have the 3-1-1 system up and running.

3-1-1 allows citizens to request non-emergency police services more easily, and allows the RPD to handle those requests more efficiently. By handling requests for police services more efficiently, the RPD and its officers will have more time to work with the community to prevent crime.

Rochester Police Department Web Site

Along with the new year came a new link to the City of Rochester's Web Site. With the assistance of Richard Goldstein, City Communications, the RPD was able to post the first phase of the Department's web page. As part of our continuing efforts to bring better service to our community, the web page will give valuable information to the public about the Rochester Police Department and the services we provide. The web page provides a list of frequently asked questions, a community survey, recruitment information and a contact page. This is just a list of a few of the items found on the web page. For a complete list visit the site at: www.rochesternypolice.com.

Police Grants

Revenue reimbursement earmarked $1,169,800 across 26 grant programs at the start of FY00-01. Multi-year award agreements included COPS MORE '98, Local Law Enforcement Block Grant (LLEBG), and Aid to Law Enforcement (A.L.E.). Several programs also involved sub-projects that received funding for police and civilian salaries, including overtime; 30 Public Safety Aides, 24 COPS In Schools Officers, 3 Victims' Assistance Counselors, 6 patrol section Crime Coordinators, and several clerical positions. Other non-personnel expenses such as surveillance equipment and training are also funded. The aggregate amount represents approximately 10% of the Department's annual budget, thus providing a significant source of revenue to the Rochester Police Department.

calls for service

The Rochester Police Department tracks all services to the community by “calls for service”, “police responses”, and “self-initiated activities”. “Calls for service” are 911 calls dispatched by the Emergency Communications Department (ECD). A “police response” occurs each time an additional unit provides service at a given scene. As one call for service may result in multiple units in response, the number of responses is likely to be greater than the number of calls for service. “Self-initiated activity” is an event the officer comes across on the beat or initiates. In 2000, the Department is pleased to recognize that the number of calls for service decreased 2.0% by 8,154 calls, and the number of responses by units decreased 2.0% by 21,098 responses.

ECD assigns each specific incident a Crime Report number. The “CR” number is a unique number assigned to each event by which all reports, tickets, arrests, etc. can be traced. In the event that there is a need to refer back to a given incident, searches can be conducted by entry of the CR number, as well as the date or location of the incident. These retrievals are performed by the RPD Police Activity Tracking System (PATs), an in-house computer application that maintains data on all RPD activity and responses transferred from ECD to the RPD Informations Systems Unit.

The “Do the Right Thing” Program began in Rochester in 1996 and was adopted from a similar program in the Miami Police Department. The program’s goals are to reinforce socially desirable behavior, to demonstrate that “good kids” are newsworthy, and to foster positive relations between young people and police officers.
